Asmus paddling in the shallows of the great River Elbe, near Hamburg. He loves water . . . well some of us do! Gisela says “He’s a lovely dog, strong and energetic, a perfect family pet and already doing well in the Show Ring and at stud.

We adore him and have high hopes for him in every way.”

Animal War Memorial London

It is 100 years since the outbreak of the Great War.
We remember with gratitude and sadness the thousands of animals that suffered and died with their regiments.

We salute our beloved 'Micks' who served with courage and daring in the trenches.

For the war they fought
For a task unsought
For the joy they wrought
And the love they brought
We will remember them.

Storm posing for a photo call in the forests which surround Oslo. It is a splendid place for dogs and there is always a chance of spotting a Scandinavian Elk. When the snow lies thick, he loves to follow behind Eigil in the ski tracks. Eigil says “He’s a wise child, always a diplomat and is much admired by the Hunde Skole instructor who calls Storm harmonious and kind even though he knows he is the strongest dog in the school.”

Juno lives every Irish Terrier's dream. She has five children who all adore her. Here she is playing with 'her youngest' . . . Florence. She's a small bitch, bright as a button and a wonderful playmate. We think her favourite child could be Beatrice (see back of the calendar) who takes great care of her. It is impossible to imagine a happier little dog.

Maxwell being a mad March Hare. He's a strong young dog, full of energy and fun . . . a typical 'Mick'. He's a great boy for games, tugging and hide-and-seek are favourites, but chasing a ball is best. He lives in London with Patrick and Neil and spends weekends at the seaside with his grandad. Happy times all round.

Susie with one of her six beautiful sons. She was the kindest mother and from the start never minded the children around the puppies.

Bartley, her housemate and the puppies' father, was kept well away until Susie decided after five weeks, that they could all meet together on the terrace.

Lucy writes, "It was a lovely sight to see how gently Bartley played with them.

We all enjoyed every minute of the 'puppy thing' . . . it was a wonderful experience for the whole family"

Poppy and Lucas in disguise as Wonder Woman and Superman. They were raising funds for the Dog Trust's annual Super Hero Run in London's Regent's Park. It seems everyone enjoyed the day and they raised £500 and a great round of applause. They are much adored family dogs, Caron writes "Lucas is always the perfect gentleman and Poppy is the funny girl - the clown." Epping Forest is their stamping ground and they take part in every adventure planned for them by Caron and Guy.

'Portrait of a Lady'

She's one of the 'all time greats' . . . a delightful, easy going bitch, a born Show Girl with 9 CC's to her name and the only Terrier ever to win the final of the The Kennel Gazette Junior Warrant competition.

She is now, at ten, still in the Show Ring with countless 'Best Veteran in Show' Awards.

She has produced some gorgeous puppies and her sweet steady nature has helped many a nervous junior handler to success.

Sitting amid the Forget-me-nots, she is herself, a true 'unforgettable'.

She and May have done so much for Irish Terriers.

Liberty Belle in her new found paradise on the sea wall in Lymington . . . the Solent and the Isle of Wight behind her, the wind in her ears and a back-up gang of unruly playmates. She's the ultimate party girl, always up for a 'dazzle', but a most kind, humorous, adorable companion at home - how lucky we are!

Abby is very definitely in charge of her lovely garden and keeps it free from squirrels and pigeons . . . at the expense of a few holes and a race track for games with her great friend Jemima, who is a speedy whippet!

Alison writes “She has such a lovely, friendly nature and life would be so dull without her.”

By popular request, (after last year’s calendar) Archie is here again on watch with his chickens. Do remember however, his sporting prowess, his hill climbing and marathon runs with Mark . . . and he is the ultimate, absolute charmer.

The darling Daphne posing with the statues by Tony Harvey in Regent’s Park. They are carved from the oak trees in Richmond Park. Daphne ‘sets them off’ as only an Irish can. Note, she’s sitting on top of a squirrel . . . well they do give her many a merry chase. She’s an enchanting dog, born to delight and make everyone want to hug her. She moves around Samantha’s family in town and country, living the life, with complete enjoyment.

And she can coax the birds off the branches!

James is devoted to ‘his’ grandchildren and never leaves them when they come to stay. He likes to be in on everything that’s happening.

Here he is playing with Max and his new telephone, watching and listening as if he really understands the game, which he does of course!

He is a great character and we all remember him from the moving and iconic picture in the Dorset poppy field.

Inga says “He was actually just longing to run off and chase the rabbits.”

This is Boris with his beautiful Christmas baby, Bertie who was just four days old. Boris was intrigued and so gentle with him. Now that he's crawling however, Boris has had to learn to avoid having his whiskers tweaked by busy little fingers.
